The Graduates Editor manages the section that contains senior portraits, outstanding professor profiles, and senior features. The section demands responsibility, initiative, and creativity to identify stories and leads, reach out to other students and staff for interviews and photos, and work flexibly around deadline for the spreads provided. The editor should have a strong writing background, as well as experience interviewing, and be confident editing and assigning interns’ work.

Along with the section’s responsibilities, the Graduates Editor is in charge of also following general Editor duties such as:

- Updating the Managing Editor on a weekly basis of the status of interns and alerting the Managing Editor of any important intern developments (good and bad).

- The Editor is responsible and accountable for content on section pages by the deadline (as defined by Editor-in-Chief).

- Work with all editors to integrate material and create a section that is stylistically consistent with the book concept.
